Call for Speakers – JTS 10/16/19

The Southern California Joint Technical Symposium announces a call for speakers for the Wednesday, October 16, 2019, conference in Carson, California. Interested presenters must submit a proposal to speak for review by the Symposium Planning Committee. If you or someone you know is a dynamic, knowledgeable speaker with a presentation relevant to one of the broad subject areas listed below, please have the below information completed and returned no later than April 1, 2019. You will be contacted a few weeks after the final closing of speaker applications. Thank you!

Possible Presentation Subject Areas

- Occupational Health & Safety
- Industrial Hygiene
- Environmental Issues
- Emergency Management
- EHS Regulatory Issues
- Any Other Topics with Broad Appeal and/or Related EHS Practice

Presentation Parameters

The JTS audience is a professional, technical, and sophisticated audience of environmental safety, health and hygiene professionals. Presentations should be one hour in length (including Q & A), and should not be a marketing pitch. The JTS seeks experienced, professional speakers who will leave attendees with a valuable takeaway related to EHS practice.
